Welcome to 1999 and the seventh year of Blowlamp News

Many thanks to all who kindly sent us Christmas and New Year Greetings cards

The general feed-back on Carboot and Antique sales is that lamps are getting more expensive and scarcer. There are, however, occasional breaks in the clouds but, rather like the people who used to tell me how good the fishing had been just before I went, the bargains apparently only happen once. For example I had a phone call asking if I would be interested in a Valtock No 3, as the caller (one of our members) had seen two at one Carboot sale. Needless to say I've heard nothing more - so lightning obviously doesn't strike twice!

It must be disheartening for newcomers to the hobby who might have been inspired by the sight of some of our collectors' displays, but the days of £2 lamps are just a memory. A can of Brasso now costs more than that, to say nothing of the mandatory white gloves to go with it !!

Fourth Belgian Reunion

Saturday March 13th was yet another memorable day at the Belgian reunion at Mouscron. The new venue at Maison Picarde was in an old Trade Union Hall and offered greater accommodation in a beautiful hall whose walls were colourfully tiled with scenes of old Trade Union activities. Ample table space allowed better displays and more room to view exchanges, which as usual were the high light of the day. Perhaps the displays of the prized possessions were not as extensive as in previous years or maybe our eyes had become accustomed to seeing such sights. However, one of the most impressive lamps was a Sievert HSL No 3 standing nearly two feet tall and having no less than six coils in its preheat.

The meal we were offered in a neighbouring hotel across the Square was really something different. A full four course lunch with aperitif, onion soup, salmon, hot ham with vegetables followed by apple tart and coffee and accompanied ( as Mick Marshall will testify!) by copious supplies of wine. There is no way we could hope to compete with that. The feeling of most was that afterwards there was little energy left but to repack our lamps and go home. Congratulations to Alain Henry for another outstanding success.

Third Blowlamp News General Meeting

Many will have seen the notices I distributed at Mouscron for our third meeting which is to be held on Saturday May 8th.

At that time the venue was undecided but was to be further West and roughly on the border of Kent and Surrey.

This idea of moving it is to encourage more of our members to come to enjoy a very friendly meeting and to see first hand not only the largest collection of blowlamps in one place that they are ever likely to see, but a variety of lamps such as we seldom see in this country. The real bonus, of course, is the opportunity of exchanges for some of these treasures.

All our continental friends are very keen to come again and are quite reconciled to driving another hour westwards along the motorway in order to enjoy a further meeting.

Despite Andy Feast's sterling work with the proprietors of Hever Castle, they would not back down from including the cost of entry to the Castle gardens in their quote for using their Pavilion for our meeting. That, with their provision of only a two course meal, without drinks, I felt was not acceptable. After all I believe the majority of people attending this meeting will be there for blowlamps rather than gardens.

So our meeting will be in Bletchingly Village Hall which is some three miles towards Redhill off Junction 6 of the M25. This hall, though a little more expensive than Great Chart, is nearly twice its size and offers much more convenient facilities for catering and parking. Also, there appears to be a plentiful supply of tables, but it would still be a great help if you brought your own stands.

For the ladies, Bletchingly itself is a pleasant old village with some historic buildings and several antique shops, while among other attractions within a mile or two is the historic working Outwood Windmill. Hever Castle with its beautiful gardens is twelve miles away and is open in the afternoon

Our planned day is as follows:-

- 10 a.m. Meet for Coffee and Biscuits
Arrange Blowlamps, look at Blowlamps, admire Blowlamps, talk Blowlamps compare Blowlamps, swap Blowlamps - it is after all a Blowlamp meeting !
- 1.p.m. Lunch
- Asparagus Soup
Hot or Cold Buffet
Vegetables and Salads
Treacle Tart or Gateau
Wine/Beer/ Fruit Juice
Coffee
- ?? p.m. More Blowlamps - and a Quiz
4-00. p.m. Tea and Cakes
4.30 p.m. Say goodbye to Blowlamps and each other.

Enclosed is a reply slip which I would appreciate if you would return as soon as possible so we can get ahead with the arrangements.

Make a note of the date and let me hear from you in good time.

Bring along as many of your best lamps as you can to display, and plenty of lamps to exchange, and let's make it a bumper gathering this year

1999 Shows and Rallies

So far notified to the end of July

Keith Hawkins:- May 1/3 Whipsnade Zoo (they let him out last year!)

May 29/30 Enfield Pageant of Motoring, June 5/6 Leighton Buzzard Bypass Rally,

June 19/20 Ashby Magna Leics. July 3/4 Chiltern Rally Great Missenden Bucks,

July 17/18 Woodcote Nr Reading, July 23/24/25 Welland, Worcs.

July 31/Aug 1 Cromford Rally Derby,

Taff:- May 1/2/3 Abbey Hill, May 15/16 Castle Combe, May 30/31 Abergavenny,

June 2/3/4/5 Bath and West Show, June 12/13 Parham, June 26/27 Banbury,

July 3/4 Bromyard Gale, July 17/18 Woodcote Nr Reading, July 23/24/25 Netley Marsh

July 31/Aug 1 Wroughton.

Myself:- July 31/Aug 1 Lingfield

Hopefully others will let me have their bookings for August, September and October ready to publish in the next newsletter. This information can be useful for meetings and exchange or purchase of lamps - certainly cheaper and more entertaining than using Parcelforce!

Subscriptions

Many thanks to all of you who have renewed your subs for this year. For those who have forgotten I've enclosed a reminder and another sub form. If you've paid in the meantime, my apologies for troubling you again.

'GOVERNOR' PETROL SOLDERING IRON.

Burns Petrol or Benzoline.
IMPROVED TYPE. GUARANTEED EFFICIENT.
WILL BURN IN ANY POSITION.

This combined Soldering Iron and Blow Lamp is very strongly constructed, being specially built to give greater satisfaction, either as a Soldering Iron or Blow Lamp, than any of its Continental prototypes.

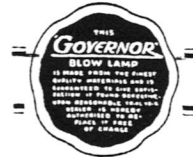

Soldering Iron Attachment can be removed in a few seconds, quickly converting to a Blow Lamp. Invaluable to Electricians, Tinsmiths, Plumbers, Motorists, Mechanics, etc.

SPECIFICATION.
Total Length	... .. 15 ins.	Capacity of Container	... .. 1/2 pint.
Gross Weight	... .. 2-lbs. 10 ozs.	Length of Container	... .. 7 ins.

INSTRUCTIONS - FOR LIGHTING.

Unscrew Filler Cap at bottom of the barrel, and fill with clean petrol. Screw the Filler Cap on tightly.

Unscrew the Cap on Flame Tube and take out the Shutting Off Rod. Clean the Burner Nipple hole with one of the Cleaning Needles supplied for the purpose, access to the Nipple Hole being obtained by means of the wide slot in the Flame Tube.

Warm the neck of the Burner by holding in a gas jet flame for about 15 or 20 seconds, or with a lighted taper for about 25 seconds. If the Torch lights with a long white flame, vapourisation is not yet quite perfect, and a few seconds further warming of the Burner may be applied until a blue flame is obtained.

Adjust the Soldering Bit to one inch from the end of the Flame Tube, and tighten set Screw. When the Soldering Bit is sufficiently hot, slide it out until two inches from end of flame tube where it retains sufficient heat for its work.

When the Flame is required for brazing either remove Soldering Bit or swing the Soldering Bit clear of the Flame and tighten Thumb Screw.

To extinguish, blow out the flame, insert Shutting Off Rod in Flame Tube and screw down the Cap.

Do not use any other cleaner than the size supplied—if you enlarge the nipple hole you will spoil this, or any other Torch. Do not unnecessarily interfere with the other parts.

DO NOT REMOVE WICK.

We warrant the Torch to be successful if these INSTRUCTIONS ARE FOLLOWED, but not otherwise.

Re-cap on B/N 27 drawings

John Tingle's lamp.

Sheila Cleaver has one and was told it was the starter lamp for a table lamp possibly petrol but make unknown. Andy Feast also has one but with a glass tank. Still no real identifying clues but thanks for the initial efforts.

Burners

- a) Barthel B M 0.14
- b) off the small ¼ pint petrol Monitor 130
- c) Barthel No 61 Soldering torch

Filler caps

- a) The ¼ pint Monitor 130 petrol as the burner (b)
- b) Barthel B M 0.14 as the burner (a)

Handles

- a) Spiral steel faced pump handle off the 1 pint paraffin "NEVE".

A half pint "NEVE" was on show at Mouscron but apparently no further information on this or the other Dutch lamp manufacturer "HOSI". The answer to my question about the inscription being in English was that it was usual to use English as a universal language allowing export to other countries. So why not in their native language as well?

- b) Plastic handle of Otto Bernz 2 pint with convex sided "bell" tank

Members' questions and some responses

Willy Mouton has sent me a photograph of a "Roma" which is a typical 1 pint paraffin lamp but its handle, which is original, is the same wound spring wire type as on Radius and Erikssons. "ROMA" is stamped into the tank. Any more variations on Frank Love's products? No response to Tom Bartlett's query on the "ACME" soldering torch but I've included some pictures of the two "Lamb" torches and the "Governor" torch which complete a quartet of English soldering torches. Anyone know of any others? I am indebted for the "Lamb" torch instructions to of all people - Ron Lamb !!

In response to John Wheeler's "Coleman/Monitor" cooker, Brian Grainger sent a rubbing, as shown here, of the name of a 1 pint paraffin lamp which is a typical, but unmarked, No 26. It has the perforated handle bearing the name "Monitor" embossed down its length.

BRITISH
COLEMAN-MONITOR
MADE

John Tingle, as the owner of probably the most significant collection of No 26 lamps, do you have anything to add to this?

Malcolm Forster has made some discoveries about Wrights of Lymm, and confirms that they marketed but did not manufacture blowlamps. They were selling a range of Sievert lamps in the late 1950's and were apparently agents for Taymax lamps. So far there is no available history back to the date of the "Bladon" made "Firefly" which would appear to be late 1920-30 era. Tom Bartlett has one which has the Bladon pump valve which was patented in 1929. Will update you as information becomes available.

Requests

Keith Hawkins is looking for a Primus 701 or 703 or indeed both if available. Any offers?

Warning note from Max Rhodes

He tells me was burgled some time ago and lost among, other things, some soldering torches of which he had made no records. He advises that we should photograph or record details of our lamps in case this sort of thing becomes more common. Especially this is important in view of the media attention to our hobby and the high values publicised.

A few B/N 28 drawings for you to ponder and perhaps send in some information

Pump lock

Filler Cap

This Herberg No 96 pocket blowlamp, to add to your stock of small lamps, was drawn from the French "Gazette" but I suspect there is a burner tube missing.

Anyone able to supply details of this?

For example dimensions?

Reporting corrections

Further to Sheila's reports in B/N 26 I am reliably informed by no less a person than the Editor of "La Gazette" that the French Club was not formed in 1901( that was the date of the act which governed the formation of non profit-making clubs) but in 1992.and that the centenary commemoration of M Guilbert's "Maison Express" company in 2000 is not to be an open Club meeting but effectively a Trade Exhibition. A misunderstanding - but whose? (editor's apologies).

Index

For those who remember the great work of Sylvia Black and Tony Bridle I haven't forgotten the index. It's being computerised and will then be available on request.

Good luck for the coming season and I look forward to meeting a great many of you at Bletchingly, on Saturday May 8th. Don't forget - and let me have those return slips.
